(iii) Stock cards must be numbered serially for each calendar year and the serial number of the card must be reproduced in the Warehouse Register against the relative entry. Where several stock cards represent the same lot of package (denoted by a single S. No. in the warehouse register), the cards must be distinguished from one another by suffixing a different letter (A.B.C.) to the "Card Serial Number" of each card.

(iv) The "Serial Number and date in warehouse register" must be indicated with the prefix "I..... Or/11" according as the consignment relates to part I or part II of the register. In the latter case, the date should be the date of completion of process as shown in column 7, part II of the register.

(v) Weights of individual packages are not required in Stock-Card only the total weight of the consignment must be entered.

(vi) Stock cards must be placed on or near the consignments to which they relate. Alternatively, they must be kept in a loose-leaf register, systematically filed in the order of their "Card Serial Numbers"; a stock-ledger with a separate opening for each consignment, and maintained in the form laid down at para 1 above, may also be permitted. If three alternative methods are employed, stock-labels showing the "Card Serial Numbers" and the "Serial number and date in the warehouse register" must be fastened to the consignments to enable their identification with the stock card.

(vii) Consignments which are undergoing process need not be covered by a stock card in the above form. A card must, however, be placed near such consignments showing thereon (a) the serial No. assigned to the process in Part II of the warehouse register, and (b) the total net weight of the tobacco in process as entered in column 4 of this part.

(viii) When consignments have been issued in full (for processing and/or clearance) the relative stock cards must be systematically filed in the warehouses and preserved for three years from the date of final clearance of the consignment.
